

Marc Wannhoff to be CEO of Doetsch Grether AG from September 1, 2020

Basel (19 June 2020). Marc Wannhoff is taking over operational management of Doetsch Grether AG in September 2020. The company will continue its existing growth strategy under his leadership. Current CEO Thomas Wyss will leave the company at the end of 2020 and remain available for advice and support.

Marc Wannhoff (46) is married and has two children. His profile makes him a perfect fit for Doetsch Grether. Mr. Wannhoff studied economics at the University of Cologne and has worked in various roles in the pharmaceutical and consumer goods sectors in Germany, the Czech Republic and especially Switzerland. Most recently, he was Managing Director at Galderama and then CO-CEO of Struli Pharma AG.

After twelve successful years, current CEO Thomas Wyss has decided to leave the company at the beginning of 2021. One of the highlights of Thomas Wyss's time in charge was his successful management of the 2016/2017 turnaround phase. Thomas Wyss will remain available to the company in an advisory capacity after he steps down.

Valentino Cè, Chairman of the Board, said the following:

"I am very pleased we have secured the services of Marc Wannhoff, a manager of the new generation who will continue our current growth strategy.

We worked very successfully with Thomas Wyss, and I would like to thank him on behalf of the company for his extremely valuable contribution."

Image: Marc Wannhoff

For further information:

E-mail: media@doetsch-grether.ch

About Doetsch Grether AG

Located in the heart of Basel, Doetsch Grether AG is a medium-sized, family-owned company with traditional values that specialises in the marketing and distribution of products in the pharma, OTC and consumer care segment.

www.doetschgrether.ch